

Counselling Service

The aim of counselling is to give you the opportunity to explore your thoughts and feelings, in confidence, with a person you can trust. This can help you to understand your problems and support you if you decide to make changes in your life.

Counselling is available to families where a child is receiving care for a complex illness, long term condition or disability, palliative care or following bereavement. The counselling service is available to children and adults.

If you would like more information about counselling please ask to speak to a member of the Complex Health Needs Team. You can telephone to refer yourself if you prefer.
